Chuckle Your Way Through Fatherhood By Christy Monson Fatherhood: The Manliest Profession, written by Matthew Buckley, is a hilarious read. Matthew, whose real name is Marion Jensen, is the father of five boys. In this book, he relates a few of the real-life happenings in raising this army of boys. The book begins with an incident about the rewording of a once-sweet Primary song and leads us into other comical tales, including a tea party during the BYU vs. Utah football game. We chuckle our way through the pages, laughing out loud at times, and finish with a flourish, describing a real-life Sacrament Meeting with energetic children one will never forget. Enjoy this never-to-be-forgotten book and give it to your own father as a gift of love this Father's Day. It's an entertaining read through parenthood. I highly recommend it to every parent: lighten up and take pleasure in your family. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Love love love this book By C. Miller Let me repeat, I love this book. It has numerous vignettes about what it means to be a father. If you're old enough to remember Erma Bombeck, well, this is the XY version. Plenty of laughs and plenty of heart. Through the pitfalls and guffahs, you'll find that the manliest of men are fathers!

You know those inspirational books on Fatherhood that touch the heart and move the soul. Yeah, this isn't one of them. Let's face it. Parenthood is not for wimps. Only the bravest need apply. With his characteristic wit, author Matthew Buckley shares the comic and crazy misadventures of the boldest of men: fathers. A far cry from the usual instructional fare, this book is dedicated to those men who are figuring it out one diaper at a time, one hilarious encounter with their wives at a time. From navigating bedtime mayhem to hosting tea parties gone wrong, this refreshing look at the joys of fatherhood serves as a humorous and heartwarming tribute to fathers everywhere.

About the Author Matthew Buckley is the pen name of Marion Ray Jensen. He is the father of a small army of boys. He's a devoted beard wearer who enjoys running and bacon. Matthew lives in Utah, and he knows exactly who dealt it. He is always happy to hear from readers.
