Mr. Ajay Anand : Fifteen Stories from Contemporary India: Satires on politics and society of modern India (Hindi Edition) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Fifteen Stories from Contemporary India: Satires on politics and society of modern India (Hindi Edition):

These stories are based on contemporary social and political context in India. These are short stories which are written in satire style. The use of simple Hindi; spoken by most of the common people in India makes this book easy to read and understand. All the satires are light-heart and none of them tries to hit below the belt.

From the Author I have always found life around me quite amusing. By virtue of being a painter, I have a well developed sense of keen observation. I have been writing my experiences about daily life in India on my blog. Encouraged by the popularity of my blog, I got the motivation to come with a collection of short stories. These stories are guaranteed to bring a smile on any reader's face. About the Author Ajay enjoys writing short stories. Satire on day to day social and political life in India is his main forte. The stories are usually inspired by happenings around the daily life or by some funny headlines. Hindi is spoken by a large section of people in India and hence, the author prefers to connect to the readers in this language. Moreover, Hindi gives him the degree of freedom to express certain nuances which may get lost in translation while being expressed in English.
