What could be a better backdrop for a murder mystery...than a winery. You have to love the creative nature of the story and how it keeps you guessing. Several times I had to stop myself from reading the end of the book as I just had to know "how is this all going to be played out?" I can't wait for the entire series. This is absolutely a must read! The art work in it just added to the intensity of the story and complimented the nature of murder!!!0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Edgy and InnovativeBy Brenda L. GateleyThis is the most innovative and edgy book I've read in a very long time! It's like Edgar Allen Poe dated Ditta Von Tease and this book is their illegitimate child. This is not a book for kids or grandparents. It's edgy and raw and...the best blend of horror and mystery I've read in a long time. ALSO... LA ARTIST STEVE MONTIGLIO created the original art for this book--some 20 something illustrations scattered throughout the book. (You've seen his work in galleries around the world and featured in numerous movies and television series.) His work alone is worth the price of this book. (I also read in the back of the book that he's one of the partners in this project..very cool indeed). Check it out... You won't be disappointed.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy 5This book's hilarious! Don't know what that other reviewer's on about...

A phone call in the middle of the night shatters the lives of twins Zachary and Angelina Bartlett. A plane crash into shark infested waters has claimed the lives of their father, Master Winemaker Horst Bartlett, and wicked stepmother Tilda. Forced to return to the family vineyard to oversee the completion of the latest Merlot, the twins are confronted by the dark secrets of their father's sordid past. With Kestrel Vintners, the region's premier winery, just next door and Zach's high school sweetheart offering them the financial deal of their dreams, the pressure is on to sell and get out quick. But when clues surface from the midnight realm of their father's chilling obsession the twins begin to question each other and the details surrounding their own mother's untimely death. And now, another beautiful woman has gone missing. Coincidence or is history repeating itself? With winemaking in their veins, will the twins succumb to the call of the grapes or be consumed by their own dark obsessions?

A mysterious full-bodied gothic tale through the labyrinth of a very unique winery where the family blood runs ripe with emotional desire. Wine is the life's blood and the aroma of sexual repression and experimentation that permeates this tale has at its heart a rich palette of sensuality that is heightened by Steve Montiglio's luscious art. ----Del Howison-Owner of Dark Delicacies Horror Bookstore BurbankIn For the Sake of the Vine, Adria Lang works a modern spin on the classic murder mystery. Set among Washington's wine country, her unique blend of mayhem and forbidden passion makes for a robust and full-bodied debut. --Peter Atkins-Screenwriter of Hellraiser II-IV, Author of Big Thunder and MoontownPut down the Cabernet and snuggle up to a cozy fire with this murder mystery and a glass of Merlot. This full-bodied red satisfies, transporting the reader to Prosser, the unofficial capital of Washington State's wine region. To complete your escape, I recommend a box of dark chocolates, soft centers-slightly chilled of course. --Neil Low-Author of Thick as ThievesAbout the AuthorAdria Lang-- Author, Siren Screenwriter and Burlesque Diva. Steve Montiglio--Innovative Artist, Fugitive Musician and Defender of Truth.
