KimThis sixteenth installment of the "Garfield" comics features a cow skull from a garage sale, Garfield's ninth birthday, glue and funny glasses, a woman ont he street who loves "puddy tats", The Coleslaw That Time Forgot (!), rolling over with Odie, a full week of going fishing, an awkward group of people on a bus, useless pet doors, jogging shoes, pulling pants down, a vulture of the night, a fight against depression, a carnivorous plant, blowing bubbles, Splut Week, showing a woman named Renee what Jon is REALLY like, Honest Ed's Used Cars, and an eating contest that goes horribly wrong. This is a bit dull compared to "Garfield Worldwide", but the fun never really stops here. These strips are certainly better than the weaker ones in the early 2000's.

On a diet or swallowing a lasagna whole, he's still the same lovable Garfield. Getting in over his scruffy neck and sassing his way back out again, this is one scrappy cat who knows how to have fun.

About the Author Jim Davis was born on July 28, 1945, in Marion, Indiana. He later attended Ball State University in Muncie, Indiana, where he distinguished himself by earning one of the lowest cumulative grade point averages in the history of the university. (Incidentally, a fellow classmate named David Letterman earned the other). The Garfield strip was born on June 19, 1978, syndicated in forty-one U.S. newspapers. Today it's syndicated in more than 2,100 newspapers worldwide with more than 200 million readers, leading Guinness World Records to name Garfield The Most Widely Syndicated Comic Strip in the World. Davis has had many successes with Garfield, including four Emmy Awards for Outstanding Animated Program and induction into the Licensing Hall of Fame (1998), but his most prized awards are from his peers in the National Cartoonist Society: Best Humor Strip (1981 and 1985), the Elzie Segar Award (1990), and the coveted Reuben Award (1990) for overall excellence in cartooning.
