From the PublisherEver since I can remember, I've loved cats. I don't know which came first though, my eyes on Fluffy--my first cat, an orange tabby, or Garfield! What I do remember is growing up looking forward to the Sunday comic strips in color to read about what Garfield was up to. I then began to collect Garfield stuff, like pencils, stationery, t-shirts, and I got the lunch box and kite.....I can go on and on. Garfield definitely was tons of fun for me when growing up.Gareth Rees, Manager of Special Projects--Publicity, Ballantine Publishing GroupFrom the Inside FlapTHERE'S MORE OF GARFIELD TO LOVE!In his nifty new collection, GARFIELD contemplates the advantages of growing older--and fatter! He later attended Ball State University in Muncie, Indiana, where he distinguished himself by earning one of the lowest cumulative grade point averages in the history of the university. (Incidentally, a fellow classmate named David Letterman earned the other). The Garfield strip was born on June 19, 1978, syndicated in forty-one U.S. newspapers. Today its syndicated in more than 2,100 newspapers worldwide with more than 200 million readers, leading Guinness World Records to name Garfield The Most Widely Syndicated Comic Strip in the World. Davis has had many successes with Garfield, including four Emmy Awards for Outstanding Animated Program and induction into the Licensing Hall of Fame (1998), but his most prized awards are from his peers in the National Cartoonist Society: Best Humor Strip (1981 and 1985), the Elzie Segar Award (1990), and the coveted Reuben Award (1990) for overall excellence in cartooning.
