Very good book, really enjoyed and you willBy DstepFrank's book of road stories and how he relates his life lessons to his faith is a book i had originally intended to pass along however after finishing this book the first time I now intend to keep to keep it as I know I will want to reread it over again, probably more than once. All too often we move so swiftly through our day hardly stopping for a breath let alone to contemplate events; so it is refreshing to hear how Frank finds lessons in faith from everyday occurrences and this is a reminder that we can and should all be able to do the same. So for me this book brings me back to the reality of my faith and I appreciate that.I also appreciate that each story is just a few pages. I can put the book down after reading to contemplate just that lesson.Very good book, really enjoyed and you will too0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. He's a certified nut and a real fun guy to be aroundBy ~ Bill on the hill ~"Wow! What can I say? After reading the comments by "DSTEP" and "LUCY LOUIS," what's left? Ok, I got it...how about the author? He's a certified nut and a real fun guy to be around. He's honest, hard-working and a great Christian. He not only can spin a yarn, but his ability to make one laugh is refreshing. His laugh is infectious. And in this day and age, isn't laughter all that much more valuable? Every time we get together we have a good time. He never runs out of stories...all of them true! Honest! He brings his unusual sense of humor to every meeting, whether it be a prayer breakfast, a casual lunch at an Adirondack village diner, or a picnic in the park (hoagie time!). I enjoy his ability to tell a tale, and the truth, of course. He inspires me to follow Christ. "God's Road Warrior" reminds me to remain alert, for around the next curve could be a chance to tell someone about my Savior. I enjoyed the book and think you might also. "Good job Frank, good job."

Jesus wants heaven to be the most powerful motivating force in your life on earth-to keep you walking with Him on the path designed especially for you. This world is temporary; we are travelers passing through to a better world-a heavenly one," writes the author.
