and is short but should be appreciated as funny by the one I bought it for. 4 of 5 people found the following review helpful. TerribleBy Julianne PattershallA lot of mistakes that reference the real characters from JK Rowling, all in all not worth the dollar I paid.

Harold Patter and the Worst Child spoofs the hit new play Harry Potter and the Cursed Child, which claims to have been written by J. K. Rowling but actually is fanfiction written by two writers she found on Craigslist London, featuring a return to the Triwizard Tournament as depicted in Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire. In this new parody, meant for both children and adults, we finally get the sequel to the epic series: Will Elbows and Scorpio succeed in changing the past? When Scorpio accidentally ends up in an alternate reality where the Dark Lord won, and he's the coolest kid in school, will he go back again to undo what they undid? Or will he stick around, go on a date with Holly Chapstick . . . and decide this new reality is actually pretty dope?

About the AuthorJohn Marquane started his writing career as one of the least funny members of the Harvard Lampoon, where his writing was described by his parents as interesting and not particularly funny. In the years since graduating college, John Marquane wrote several literary novels under the pseudonym Jonathan Safran Foer to support his true passion: parody novels. In addition to Harold Patter and the Worst Child, he has published a parody of The Catcher in the Rye in the voice of Donald J. Trump titled The Candidate in the Rye.
