And Guess Which Actually Happened:

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Funny funny bookBy Carol Weston"Tall Texan Blonde Slugs Jailer, Flees in Panties" is a TRUE headline. So is "Students Expelled in Laxative Cupcake Caper." So is "World's Priciest Pigeon Goes for $328,000." But one out of every three headlines in this well-researched laugh-out-loud book is FAKE, and as you read the pages to yourself or to your friends, you try to guess which is strange but true and which headline the author made up. "Aussies go crazy over cat poo coffee." True? False? Check out page 45.....0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Funny bookBy Nancy NisselbaumThis book was extremely funny. Neil is a great author. I wish he would write more. I would recommend this book to a friend.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Good humor bookBy Nate CThe book has some humorous headlines but there are a few that not that good. I still like the book

New York Post absurd? Or Onion-like fiction? You decide! British woman weds dolphin! Two minor girls married off to frogs!Tennessee man marries goat! Here's the story: two of these headlines are true - and one's true bologna. Which are straight off the presses? And which one is straight out of the author's mind? It's up to you to decide! The headlines in this book are all so outlandish that it's hard to believe any one of them is true. From stories like "Teen steals bus, picks up passengers" to "World's priciest pigeon goes for $328,000," you'll need to have quite the discerning eye to recognize which are ripped from real newspapers. Filled with hundreds of outrageously authentic headlines, this book leaves you wondering, "Did they really print that?"
