Ted L. Nancy : Hello Junk Mail! before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Hello Junk Mail!:

Why junk mail, or course! Ted Nancy took it upon himself to fight back and show junk mail just what he is made of. This is a very funny and interesting look at the junk we receive and often never give second thought to. Next time you pull your junk out of your mailbox, you will think of Ted Nancy and what he did. You will never look at junk mail quite the same way again. This book is a quick and captivating read. Read this book for good laughs, you will not regret it! 3 of 3 people found the following

What a concept! Take those stupid mailers and pieces of instant garbage that just show up on our doorstep and inundate THEM with mail for a change. Plus, add silly letters about the goings on in your crazy family. Just as stupid and meaningless to the receiver as the junk mail they send out! Ha! That's what Ted did. And then the stories he (or, uh, the Kabobbys) tells are hysterically funny. When Ted takes on these different characters he has different problems and different voices for each of them but still with the special Ted style of writing (Larry!). I have given out the Letters From A Nut books to many friends who are depressed or in the hospital because the laughter they derive is so healing. I'll bet this one could have the same effect. Bottom line -- you will laugh if you buy this book, guaranteed! I am giving some for Christmas. Enjoy! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Who is Ted L. Nancy? Is it Jerry Seinfeld as many believe? Or is Ted L. Nancy someone else? Mr. Nancy's hilarious, notorious Letters from a Nut series documented his correspondence with celebrities and companies, who took his outlandish ideas and suggestions at face value. In Hello Junk Mail!, Nancy tackles one of the most pernicious evils of the modern age: the junk mailer. Now writing with the Kabobbys of Glendale, a newly arrived foreign family and their relatives, Ted and his new neighbors answer scores of junk letters with riotous results. Responding to a solicitation from a pest control company, Hamooli Kabobby requests that they eliminate his freeloading cousin, then tells the pest control company about his family problems of body odors and stinky backyards. Geela Kabobby writes the distributors of free instant breakfast samples to ask if they cure eye infections. Grandfather Bahir Kabobby writes to a mortgage company: "Yes, I want financial freedom and healthier toes." Laid out as copies of the actual correspondence, the letters are as authentic as they are ridiculous — and all are wildly entertaining. So who is Ted? Jerry Seinfeld or The Kabobbys of Glendale?

"Pure comedic genius." — Jerry Seinfeld
