Julia Gorin : Hillarisms: The Unmaking of the First Female President before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Hillarisms: The Unmaking of the First Female President:

Read, share it, keep it on your windowsill like garlic to keep the SHE-vampire out.By James G JatrasStop me if you've heard this one . . .HILLARY CLINTON FOR

PRESIDENT in 2020! What – you’re not laughing? Too soon? Unfortunately, maybe not. In her November 9 concession speech, having recovered from the shock of HER life (and pretty much everyone else’s), SHE said: “And to all the women, and especially the young women, who put their faith in this campaign and in me, I want you to know that nothing has made me prouder than to be your champion. (APPLAUSE) Now, I — I know — I know we have still not shattered that highest and hardest glass ceiling, but someday someone will and hopefully SOONER THAN WE MIGHT THINK RIGHT NOW.” Ba-dum-ching! Now that is funny! Well, maybe not in a grip-your-gut, slap-your-thigh “Ha ha ha!” funny. It’s more an “OMG! Just shoot me!” scary humor. One might have thought that November 8 would have spelled the political end of the Clinton Crime-Comedy Family pending Chelsea’s eventual arrival in the Big League. Maybe not. In Hillarisms, Julia Gorin has collected the definitive treasure trove of (mostly) inadvertently funny quotes by and about The Bullet America Dodged in 2016. In a sort of a Jeopardy format where the “answer” precedes the “question,” each item Gorin cites is preceded with an imaginative “pre-punchline” that draws out the humor, mostly where none was intended. "This is a funny yenta!" - Jackie Mason, on Gorin. Having narrowly avoided the Hillary apocalypse, we can now reflect on what almost was. This Clinton comedy retrospective is a punch-line-accentuated book of quotes and excerpts by and about the Clintons. Armed with the public’s blessing for their previous shenanigans, the Clintons have been going full-speed ahead ever since, resulting in a year of ‘Clinton sport’ that required more stamina than anyone could have predicted. Hillary may have lost the election, but the Clintathlon promises to continue indefinitely. Really, who but a Clinton could face a tossup between prison and presidency? Who else can claim a get-out-of-jail card that’s the White House? “What a country!” as comedian Yakov Smirnoff used to say. Excerpts: LIKE ON A PLATTER TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER “So I walked into our local [Marine] recruiting office.... This young man...finally said to me, ‘You’re too old. You can’t see. And you’re a woman.’ ... I decided maybe I’ll look for another way to serve my country.” –Hillary Clinton at a Capitol Hill lunch honoring military women, about her stated 1975 attempt to join the military, AP, June 15, 1994 SHE DOES SEEM UNSINKABLE “There’s nothing wrong with a witch hunt if you catch a real witch.” –Former Senate GOP foreign policy adviser Jim Jatras, TheJIM!gram©, Oct 23, 2015 ANOTHER CLINTON WHO THINKS IT’S ALL ABOUT THE HARDWARE “Well, the system we used was set up for President Clinton’s office...It was on property guarded by the Secret Service.” –Hillary Clinton to reporters at the UN, March 9, 2015, vouching for the physical safety of her computer BILL LIKES THAT ONE TOO “By the way, you may have seen that I have recently launched a Snapchat account. I love it – those messages disappear all by themselves.” –Hillary Clinton, at the annual Iowa Democratic Wing Ding, Aug. 12, 2015 SAID THE SHEIK "I'm with Her" -2016 campaign slogan
