You can pick this book up and open it anywhere for a quick humor fix!0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. my husband is constantly reading me something funny from itBy Gayle MaurerI bought this book for my husband. We are both avid fans of Red Green and have seen him twice. If you get the chance to see one of his performances, please don't hesitate. We laugh so hard the whole time. Never once does he get raunchy! Anyway, though I haven't read this book myself, yet, my husband is constantly reading me something funny from it. Such good advice for men! Thank you, Red Green! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Red Green is the best. By BlueRed Green is the best. I love getting the hardbound books. They are always in good condition.

Red Green's wisdom, wit and whimsy on mankind's greatest challenge . . . now in paperback. Red Green is celebrated as one of the handiest men in North America. But as well as being a purveyor of inventive practical advice on, for example, making a jetpack from two propane tanks, a hybrid car from recycled golf carts and satellite dishes, and a kiddie ride from a bar stool attached to the agitator of a washing machine, Red Green is also noted for his insights into that most difficult of assembly jobs, human relationships. His previous bestselling tome, How to Do Everything, showed Red dipping his toe into the self-help genre with such items as "How to make dinner more romantic" and "The easy way to raise children." Now Red Green--a veteran husband (of Bernice), father, soul-searcher, philosopher and observer--has devoted an entire book to sharing with other battle-weary and confused males all he has learned about the differences between the sexes. Set out in approximately chronological order, from teen dating to the last words of men ("You know, honey, in the last couple of years, you've really packed on the beef"), this is the testosterone owner's manual to every aspect of finding a mate and then learning to deal with her growing disappointment in you. The man who has already shared such morsels as "If you can't be handsome, be handy," and "Quando omni flunkus moritati," ("When all else fails, play dead") here presents a Ph.D. in life-lessons about the most vexing problem facing mankind today, or any day: women.

Praise for Red Green's Beginner's Guide to Women: "It's Fifty Shades of Red Green." Anonymous publicist
