

(Read ebook) Rude Bitches Make Me Tired: Slightly Profane and Entirely Logical Answers to Modern Etiquette Dilemmas

Rude Bitches Make Me Tired: Slightly Profane and Entirely Logical Answers to Modern Etiquette Dilemmas

Celia Rivenbark

**Download PDF | ePub | DOC | audiobook | ebooks*

Download

Read Online

#71515 in Books Celia Rivenbark 2013-10-22 2013-10-22 Original language: English PDF # 1 8.17 x .3 x 5.491, .52 #File Name: 1250029236272 pages Rude Bitches Make Me Tired | File size: 53.Mb

Celia Rivenbark : Rude Bitches Make Me Tired: Slightly Profane and Entirely Logical Answers to Modern Etiquette Dilemmas before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Rude Bitches Make Me Tired: Slightly Profane and Entirely Logical Answers to Modern Etiquette Dilemmas:

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Crack yourself up from the first page. I practically read every page out loud to my husband while tears flowed from laughing. By 2poor2payretail I'm a big fan of Celia's writing and snatch up everything she writes so if you like funny sarcastic and yet authentic Southern writing, then this book will keep you laughing until your ribs hurt. Don't sweat it- just buy it and read it. Then share it because it's too flipping funny to keep to yourself. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Rivenbark strikes gold again... By Jessica What a hoot! Celia Rivenbark never fails to put in writing exactly what I think in certain situations but never dare to say. Her take is honest, straight forward, and hilarious because we have all been through the same situations and met these type of people and are annoyed, but have no idea how to handle the anger and ill will they create. Celia has no problem with that at all. The best part is you can read one chapter, get your chuckle for the day, then come back later for more and not miss a beat. She takes the everyday trials and tribulations and turns them upside down. Not sure if the best part is about line jumpers or the Christmas newsletters, both had me laughing so hard I cried. Just like George Carlin and Bill Cosby, she makes everyday, mundane things very funny, and with no four letter words, as she is a southern lady.... I think the best part of any of her books is that you can re-read them in 6 months and still laugh just as hard.... 3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. Celia Rivenbark: Rude Bitches Make Me Tired By B. Masters As big fans of Celia Riverbark, who makes her home in the Wilmington, NC area near where we live, it is a joy to read her latest creation. She continues her quirky, good natured and sharp witted look at life with this latest gem in her string of hits. If you are not already a Celia fan, you will be after reading this latest effort. Highly recommend!

In this always sensible and mildly profane etiquette manual for the modern age Celia Rivenbark addresses real-life quandaries ranging from how to deal with braggy playground moms to wondering if you can have sex in your aunt's bed on vacation to correctly grieving the dearly departed (hint: it doesn't include tattoos or truck decals). Rude Bitches Make Me Tired will provide answers to all your mannerly questions as Celia discusses the social conundrums of our day and age, including: Navigating the agonies of check splitting ("Who had the gorgonzola crumbles and should we really care?") The baffling aspects of airline travel (such as "Recline Monster" and other animals) The art of the visit (always leave them wanting more . . . much more) Gym and locker etiquette (hint: no one wants to talk to you while you're buck naked) Office manners ("Loud talkers, cake hawkers, and Britney Sue's unfortunate cyst") And much more! Good manners have never been so wickedly funny!

From Publishers Weekly Southern humorist Rivenbark applies her trademark wit to answering modern-day dilemmas of etiquette in what is decidedly not your mama's etiquette guide. She addresses everything from table manners—in a section titled That's Not a Salad Fork, You Stupid Bitch—to dealing with pushy, bragging moms or, even worse, moms who refuse to vaccinate their children. Rivenbark grapples with important issues like discord between married Duke and North Carolina basketball fans; the office co-worker running a cake scam; and unsolicited hugging. She decries etiquette degenerates like air travel's Entitled Recline Monster; a woman so devoted to her politics she campaigns at funerals; and the slow-moving grocery store shoppers she dubs Saunteringus malingerus. Further topics include restroom etiquette, where Rivenbark advises men to not tap your toes in a stall, as such behavior could turn you into a Republican congressman; dealing with rude or lousy drivers on the road; and even proper Facebook behavior. As usual, her comments are infused with a Southern flair, be it a recipe for bourbon-soaked baked ham, the Sunday-afternoon drop-in, or prefacing awful comments with bless her heart. Fans of Rivenbark's biting humor will not be disappointed with this latest offering. (Nov.) "[Rivenbark]'s as rebellious, irreverent, and comical as ever." ?Publishers Weekly on You Don't Sweat Much for a Fat Girl "...a rip-roaring read.... What makes Rivenbark's writing so entertaining is that it's a lot like seeing a stand-up comedy act: she does an uncanny job of keeping the flow of comedy fresh." ?Book Reporter on You Don't Sweat Much for a Fat Girl "Opening a book by Celia is like going to a great party--at the end of the night, your sides hurt, your mascara's ruined, and you realize you haven't eaten anything for almost an hour. She's that good. My biggest hope is that when I find myself riding the bus to hell, I'll look over and Celia will be sitting right next to me." ?Laurie Notaro, author of The Idiot Girls' Action-Adventure Club, on You Don't Sweat Much for a Fat Girl "Whether readers are from the south side of Baw-ston or living just south of the Mississippi, Rivenbark's genuine Southern recipes and true Southern charm are sure to appeal to everyone." ?Encore Archives on You Can't Drink All Day If You Don't Start In The Morning "...many of her descriptions are not only LOL funny, they also demand reading aloud to whomever happens to be nearby." ?Myrtle Beach Sun-News on You Can't Drink All Day If You Don't Start In The Morning "Rivenbark is more than funny. She's Carolina funny." ?The Charlotte Observer on You Can't Drink All Day If You Don't Start In The Morning "Readers will laugh out loud over her commentary on status mothers and all the odd obsessions of modern life..." ?Booklist on Belle Weather "Think Dave Barry with a female point of view..." ?USA Today on Belle Weather "This is a hilarious read, perhaps best enjoyed while eating Krispy Kreme doughnuts with a few girlfriends." ?Publishers Weekly on Stop Dressing Your Six-Year-Old Like a Skank "She kills in the "Kids" and "Southern-Style Silliness" sections, putting the fear of Mickey into anyone planning a trip to Disney World (character breakfasts must be scheduled 90 days in advance) and extolling the entertainment value of obituaries ('If there's a nickname in quotes, say Red Eye, Tip Top, or simply, Zeke, then my entire day is made!)" ?Entertainment Weekly on Stop Dressing Your Six-Year-Old Like a Skank "Will give you a case of the giggles.” ?NY Daily News on We're Just Like You, Only Prettier“Warm, witty, and wise, rather like reading dispatches from a friend who uses e-mail and still writes letters, in ink, on good paper.” ?St. Petersburg Times on We're Just Like You, Only Prettier“Bright, witty and warm...stories that make a desperate gift-giver weep glad tears of relief...a pleasing blend of spice, humor and memories.” ?St. Petersburg Times on Bless Your Heart, Tramp“Celia Rivenbark has the goods and then some. She makes you laugh out loud dozens of times. Anyone who has the moxie to toss off a piece titled 'Fake Dog Testicles' will tread into the wildest stretches of comedic terrain...” ?The State (Columbia, S.C.) on Bless Your Heart, TrampAbout the AuthorCELIA RIVENBARK is the author of You Don't Sweat Much for a Fat Girl; Belle Weather; Stop Dressing Your Six-Year-Old Like A Skank; We're Just Like You, Only Prettier; Bless Your Heart, Tramp; and You Can't Drink All Day If You Don't Start In The Morning. She lives in Wilmington, North Carolina.